

METROFOOD-RI

A common good to meet EU research goals and improve food production and consumption

Open Event

Organized by ENEA in cooperation with CNR, CREA, FEM, ICQRF, IEO, INRIM, ISS, Università di Brescia, Università di Napoli Federico II, Università di Parma, Università di Udine

4 October 2018 (h. 08:30 – 13:00)

ENEA Headquarters – Via Giulio Romano 41, 00196 Roma (Italy)

ENEA and the Joint Research Unit METROFOOD-IT present METROFOOD-RI ("Infrastructure for promoting metrology in food and nutrition"), the first ESFRI Research Infrastructure coordinated by Italy for the domain "Health & Food", designed to support research and develop concrete solutions and synergies in the area of food quality, safety and authenticity.

METROFOOD-RI Consortium includes 48 Partners from 18 European Countries, with more than 2200 researcher involved. In Italy, 12 among the main research institutions set up a devoted JRU and ENEA, which acts as coordinator, engaged several research units belonging to the different disciplinary fields.

Quality, safety, traceability and food authenticity, sustainability and nutrition are the keywords around which researches and studies focus, with the aim to promote measurement reliability and the adoption of the FAIR (Findable, Accessible, Interoperable, Re-usable) approach, favouring harmonisation and knowledge integration and sharing.
